Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

"We are losing this war."

This epitomizes an address made by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard in an address before an international labor convention in New York last week. He offered his audience a bitter pill without sugar coating. The reasons he gives for "losing the war" should interest every citizen. We here reprint the text of his talk.

"Some months ago, after the first stunning shock of Pearl Harbor, we Americans needed a shot in the arm to restore our ego, That ego, the product of the belief that we were the peculiar children of fortune, expressed itself in the vague assumption that we could lick any of our enemies in 60 days, without skipping a full meal with dessert, or missing a Sunday drive in the country.

"After the unhappy realization that we had been cruelly outsmarted in the first inning of the war, in the peace and quiet of a Sunday morning, our own tradition of assuming that everything about us was the biggest and the best, furnished us with a compensatory reflex. We fell into the bumptious practice of flexing imaginery muscles, and loudly proclaimed that as soon as we had completed an extensive course at the gymnasium, we would get even with our enemies.

"We began pointing with pride to our resources, and without a blush plunged into the amiable self-deception of using percentages. If two tanks in a 10,000 tank program rumbled out of a factory where one had been before, we gloated that production was up 100 per cent.

"The Japanese, diligent little fellows that they are, saw to it that we received photographs of American officers and men surrendering at Corregidor and equally impressive photographs of seas of British faces imprisoned at Singapore. Because we had been so well schooled in the callous disregard of the tarnished spots in our armor, we were able collectively to avert our eyes from these unpleasant photograhps and give out some more statistics about what we would do next month, or the next month, and most certainly in the months after that.

"President Roosevelt one fine day reminded the country that it was suffering from too much complacent optimism and then we went in for pessimism. We government officials have told you and other groups in recent months that we could lose the war. But I suspect that our native conceit has accepted this line of thought as traditional advertising technique, the kind message which sells hair tonic and cure-alls, full of terror in the first part of the ad, and reassurance in the wind-up—the ads which say you are most certainly damned, but our product can save you.

"It seems to me that our pre-Pearl Harbor egotism had such momentum that it is with us today in distorted and dangerous form. We go around saying 'We can lose the war, but—' we may as well admit it—every time one of us says we can lose the war, we think of this as pure rhetoric, part of the old pep talk. The assumption is of course, we can't lost the war, but scare 'em a little and then in the windup of the talk give 'em the build up about our great American heritage of freedom and whatnot and how our courage and our self-sacrifice will bring us to victory over the forces of evil. And then there will be a people's peace, and amity and justice will pervade the earth, forever after.

"How about, for a change, just saying that we are losing the war, period. And realizing that we damn well mean it, period.

"Such realism, no doubt, would be a heart-racking plunge into cold water, but it would probably give us an idea of what we are up against.

"It would remind us that not since the Civil War has this nation

L. Mazzanti Attempts To Kill Himself

Lawrence Mazzanti, former Banned district rancher, is recovering in the county hospital here from a severe face injury, which officers said was inflicted with suicide intent.

According to the story told local authorities, Mazzanti placed a blasting cap in his mouth and blew it off. He was taken to the Nevada City Sanitarium and later moved to the county hospital by the Holmes ambulance service.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen has placed a guard over Mazzanti at the county hospital.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER HURT AT BEAR VALLEY

A mother and her daughter suffered serious and painful injuries yesterday when the car in which they were riding down Bear Valley Grade got out of control and turned over.

Mrs. Lillian Evans, 28, of Exeter, was the most seriously injured. Her daughter, Barbara Jean, 6, suffered severe scalp wounds. They were taken to the Miners Hospital here for emergency treatment and then transferred to the county hospital via the Holmes ambulance service.

Luther Evans, husband of the injured woman and father of the child, told Highway Patrolman George Hammill he believed something went wrong with the gears. Evans was following his wife in another car while going down the grade.

The family was enroute to Greenville, Plumas Count.

MORE CLASSES FOR FIRST AID

H. E. Kjorlie, newly elected chairman of the Nevada City Chatper A. R. C. presided at the regular meeting on Thursday evening last at the city hall.

Routine business was highlighted by reports of various standing committees, including details of aid rendered to local as well as outlying districts sufferers from recent severe fires.

A review of general chapter policy and specific duties of committees was directed by the chairman. Especially stressed was the advisability of forming additional classes in first aid, advance aid, instructor courses, as well as those of canteens and motor corps. Of additional value was considered a refresher course to those already possessing first aid certificates.

The production chairman reported marked progress in general work, as well as the assignment of four hundred comfort kits for soldiers. This is an especial order, with many donations already acknowledged, and additional ones will be welcome.

The subject of accepting a surgical dressings assignment is receiving earnest attention, the present obstacle being the very high minimum output per month exacted. If the issue can be arranged it will be assumed later.

Wm. Home was sincerely thanked for a donation of clothing for the recent fire sufferers.

Great interest was manifested at an interesting and inspiring meeting.

JOINS U. S. NAVY

Alvin F. Wright, fire control assistant on the Downieville district of the Tahoe National Forest has left the forest service to join the U. S. Navy. Wright, a senior in Oregon State College School of Forestry has spent the past four summers on Tahoe Forest in the capacity of trail foreman, patrolman and this year as fire control assistant. Wright will be replaced by William A. Nelson who is being promoted from dispatcher to the fire control assistant position.

George T. Williams and brother Maurice Williams of Berkeley arrived a few days ago and are visiting their old home here.

Two Holcomb Children Refuse To Salute Flag Dismissed From Classes

Several matters of importance were acted upon at the meeting of the Board of Education of the Nevada City Unified School District held the past week. Perhaps the most serious subject of discussion was the question of saluting the American Flag during the regular daily school programs.

The question was raised by H. D. Holcomb who appeared before the board after his children had refused to comply with the school custom of daily showing respect to the Flag, and that for which it stands.

The members of the Board informed Mr. Holcomb that the Flag salute was the American method of showing respect and admiration for the laws and traditions of this country, represented by the Flag, and was considered in no way as infringing upon anyone's personal beliefs. Mr. Holcomb stated that the rules of the Jehovah's Witnesses considered a salute to the Flag as a form of worship of a graven image and prohibited by such rules. He also stated, in response to questioning, that he would not fight for this country, even if it were invaded by foreign hordes, saying that if such a thing happened it would only be a sign of Divine guidance. Thereafter the Board adopted the following resolution:

"Be it Resolved: That any student otherwise qualified to attend the public schools of the Nevada City Unified School District who refuses to salute the American Flag, when requested to do so by the school authorities as a part of any school function, shall not be eligible to further attend classes in the schools of this district until such refusal is retracted;

"Further: That this Board of Education hereby expresses its profound and sincere regret that children must be subjected to the loss of school privileges due to the willful misinterpreation by parents of the right of religious freedom."

It is understood that since the adoption of the foregoing resolution that two of Mr. Holcomb's children have again refused to participate in the school Flag salute and are not now attending school. Apparently, at present there are no others who are openly taking the same attitude.

Sweetland School

The Sweetland school having been burned on September 18th, due to the fact that no fire crews were stationed at the Town of Sweetland during the recent forest fire, temporary quarters for the school have been acquired by Superintendent Kjorlie in the Reader residence, located a short distance from the site of the former schoolhouse.

Audit of Books

A report was received from Miss Alice Moore, who audited the student body record books for the Board. The report showed that the accounts covering various student body and class accounts at the schools were accurately kept and that all such moneys were accounted for.

Lunch Program

The Board learned that up to the present time the WPA had not authorized the employment of cooks as in past years and the Board authorized the institution of a similar lunch program to that of last year in the hope that it can be continued with a weekly rate of 50c or a charge of 15 cents for a single lunch.

Other Matters

The Board granted permission for four children residing in this district to attend the Blue Tent School, and also authorized the execution of similar agreements with another school district, to attend Nevada City schools. if pupils from that district are granted permission by their local boards to attend here.

Superintendent Kjorlie was authorized to attend the superintendent's conference at Los Angeles during October as the representative of this district.

Absences at the schools last year, without valid excuses, with resultant loss to the district in state money, caused the board to adopt the policy for the coming year that any student who "cut" classes three times, without presenting good excuse therefor, would automatically fail in the courses. This is designed to lessen the "playing hookey" or feigning sickness on the part of students for the purpose of indulging in some pleasure expedition, so that the average daily attendance receipts of the district from the state may be safeguarded.

Due to the government regulations, especially with regard to tires, has necessitated the curtailment of transportation of pupils living within two miles of the schools, unless there is plenty of room in the school busses for such students.

In addition to the teaching faculty, the following have been employed for the coming year: Richard Nickless, janitor, elementary school; Ned Smith, janitor at high school; Clifford Pooler, bus driver and assistant janitor at the elementary school; C. E. Peters, bus driver and assistant janitor at high school; Gertrude Schreiber, secretary, high school; Mrs. Matt Sauer, janitor at Sweetland; Mrs. Ethel Brady, janitor at You Bet school.

Grass Valley Downs Chico By 5-3 Score

Wally Turpin pitched the Grass Valley Miners to a 5 to 3 victory over the Chico Colts yesterday afternoon to boost the Miners into a tie for the championship of the Sacramento Valley League.

The playoff of the tie with Marysville will take place in Grass Valley at Watt Park Sunday. Manager Pete Daley won a toss of a coin and Grass Valley was selected as the site for the championship game.

Turpin allowed the Colts only two hits yesterday but his teammates made seven bobbles, giving Chico all of the runs.

The Colts were in the lead until the seventh inning, when Grass Valley scored four runs.

The first Miner run came in the sixth when Paul Bowa singled and then galloped home! when the ball went through the outfield.

Jake Golsberry led off with a hit in the Grass Valley half of the seventh. Stassi flew out but Walter Welch singled, placing two runners on the bags.

The large crowd clamored for a hit from Turpin but the pitcher struck out. However, Bart Smythe put life into the game when he singled to score Goldsberry. Then Bowa sent a booming triple into the outfield to count Welch and Smythe. Bowa scampered home when Harvey McDonald came up with his third hit of the day.

Two of Chico's runs came in the second inning and the third in the eighth.

The score:	R.	H.	E.
Grass Valley	5	9	7
Chico	3	2	1

Batteries: Turpin and Stassi; Gillick and Dalrymple.

Sacramento Eliminated; St. Louis Wins Title

While Grass Valley pleased local sports fans by downing Chico to tie for the Sacramento Valley League championship, baseball favorites on the national front fell by the wayside.

In Sacramento, the Solons were eliminating from further competition in the president's cup playoffs by dropping a 9 to 2 decision to the Seattle Rainiers.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals clinched the title by defeating the Chicago Cubs in a double header. Brooklyn won its game with Philadelphia but the victory was not enough to overcome the Cards two game win.

ANNUAL GUERNSEY MEETING

The California Guernsey Cattle Club will hold its annual business meeting in conjunction with the Seventh Annual State Guernsey Sale this year, in order to save travel, time, gas and rubber.

The sale will be held at the Sacramento County Fair Grounds at Galt, on Saturday, October 10th. The annual meeting and banquet will be held at the Lodi Hotel at Lodi on Friday evening, October 9th.

Cattle may be inspected by prospective buyers at Galt fair grounds on Friday, the day before the sale. Members and prospective buyers are urged to immediately make hotel reservations at the Lodi Hotel. First come, first served, and later reservation may have to be put up at Sacramento or Stockton.

RETURN FROM HAWAII

Mrs. Herbert Costa and the two Costa children have returned from Hawaii, where they had lived since Costa has been employed on defense work in Honolulu. Mrs. Costa and children will stay with Mrs. Costa's parents near Auburn for the duration of the war.

G. E. Betz came up from Oakland a few days ago on a few days visit with his family here.

Caught in the Riffles

It begins to look like the Lava Cap miners do not wish to be organized into the Gold Miners Union of the American Federation of Labor.

A mass meeting was called especially for the Lava Cap men by the AFL yesterday. No one showed up for the meeting outside of a few of the AFL leaders. A. H. Peterson, Los Angeles AFL organizer, who was scheduled to speak, did not put in his appearance either.

Jack Fontz, Grass Valley city superintendent of public works, spent $258.27 in an unsuccessful attempt to qualify for county assessor at the primary election.

Joe Martin, unsuccessful candidate for treasurer, listed his election expenses at $163.69, while Vernon Stoll district attorney, spent $134.36 in his campaign.

Coroner A. M. Holmes, who was defeated by Alvah Hooper, listed his expenses at $117.76.

A man and a woman shot a deer near Alleghany. They hung it in a tree and came to Nevada City on their motorcycle to have some one go after it and haul it here to store. But they forgot to clean the buck and the day after it was brought to Nevada City and dressed the meat had spoiled so badly the entire deer was taken out to the city dump, where stray dogs and cats had a bountiul feast. . . Hobart Childers sought to enlist in the Coast Guard but was told enlistments had been closed for the time being so now Childers will wait to be drafted into the service. . . . City Clerk George Calanan said the cashing in of defense stamps given to city employees in the form of a boost in salary violates the purpose of the city council and steps may be taken to impound the stamps until after the war. The pay boost amounted to approximately $15 for each employee and the amount, the council agreed, was to be paid in defense stamps.

Many of the Nevada County residents employed at Camp Beale have been selected as peramanent maintenance employees. Camp Beale construction crews are fast diminshing. In one day 2,000 were laid off. On another day last week work for 1,500 was suspended. Many Camp Beale workers have left or intend to leave or Bakersfield on another defense project when work is concluded at the cantonment.

Holiday Greeting Telegrams Are Discontinued

No special rate social and holiday greeting telegrams, tourate and reservation messages or Sing-O-Grams can be sent after midnight tomorrow, it was announced today by Gertrude Zollars, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company. Cancellation of all flat rate telegraph services in the nation has been announced by the telegraph company to prevent any possible interference with the efficient handling of the large and growing volume of vital war communications.

"Western Union told the War Production Board as long ago as March 10 that it would cancel these services as soon as they threatened to interfere with government or war messages," A. H. May, Western Union official said.

GUARD AGAINST FIRE

More than ever this year, Californians should be on guard against fire, whether in the home, place of business or the outdoors.

Firefighting takes men, money and equipment, and the things which the nation needs most now in its fight against the Axis are those three things—men, money and equipment.

Manpower, both in the armed services and at home, has become one of our most valuable assets, and it behooves everyone to conserve that asset as much as possible.

We are spending billions of dollars to prosecute the war and every dollar that can be diverted to the war effort will help bring victory and peace.

Our factories are all being devoted to production of war equipment vitally needed on the battlefronts, and the people at home should see that present equipment, such as that used in firefighting, be made to last as long as possible.

Add to these factors the pressing need for building materials in military construction and there is additional reason for protecting and using existing structures and for protecting our timber supply in the forests.

Neither the existing structures nor the forests can be protected by carelessness.

Let everyone take the utmost care about fire and see that children are not allowed to handle inflammables. Such action is just as vital to the war effort as that of the man who is engaged in actual combat.

10-DAY SHIP

Henry J. Kaiser, the Paul Bunyan of the shipbuilding industry, has created more bad news for the Axis.

One of Kaiser's shipyards has launched a 10,500-ton vessel 87 per cent complete 10 days after the keel was laid. Not only that Kaiser promises that the ship will be complete and ready for sea by Sunday, two weeks from keel-laying time.

And, the doughty shipbuilder continues, he intends to build ships in less than 10 days.

This is the type of action which will seal the doom of Hitler, Hirohito and their satellites.

With American ships coming off the ways like bullets from a machine gun, the enemy's U-boats will be at a distinct disadvantage. For every ship they sink or damage, two more will appear to take its place.

Hitler has stepped up production by making slaves out of every citizen of his own land and of those lands he has ravaged.

Americans have accepted the challenge. A free people, they are not only meeting Hitler's records but are outstripping them. The war of production is just as vital as the war of bullets, of tanks, of men. Men like Kaiser are seeing to it that we don't lose the war of production.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder when fair spring returns,
With eager heart and smiling face,
To robe in olden loveliness,
Each dear and well remembered place,
If she will mourn each ruined shrine,
Each marred retreat, each flame swept hill,
And strive with patient artistry,
Her tasks of mercy to fulfill.

I wonder if autumn walks disconsolately today across the flame swept hills of home, grieving for all the wealth of life and beauty so wantonly and needlessly destroyed. Does she miss the little lost towns with their simple, unpretentious homes and does she mourn for cherished landmarks which can never be replaced? Do her light fingers fall with pitying tenderness upon shriveled vines, charred shrubs and blasted trees which she can never, never again adorn with rich autumnal hues of gold and bronze and crimson?

Winter rains will bring refreshment to the scorched and blackened earth. Deep underground, seeds and rootlets will hear the call of life and make their glad response. Spring will come with healing in her wings. Soft green grass will carpet the denuded hillsides, blue lupines will bloom in rare profusion in many a spot made desolate by the red demon as he passed. Demeter the earth mother will begin her gracious tasks of restoration, beauty will live again triumphant over the powers of devastation; but the forests have suffered sorely and trees are not quickly replaced. At this time, they stand with gaunt, accusing arms uplifted as though in protest against the fate which overtook them and forever robbed them of life, beauty and symmetry, while autumn passes by with sorrowful eyes and troubled heart. Is all this a bit too fanciful? Well then, let's be practical.

I wonder, in view of the regret felt by citizens of Nevada County for the tragedy of the San Juan Ridge, if steps will be taken to avert like catastrophies. What can be done to rationalize the hunting season? Oregon has solved the problem by closing areas to campers, fishermen and hunters until after the first drenching rain. Will California follow suit?

A friend writes: "Why should there have been a hunting season this year?" Well, hunters are entitled to their annual season of life, liberty and the pursuit of wild life in the great out of doors; and it must be remembered, that considering the number of hunters who enjoy the seasonal outing, the fires traced directly to them are negligible. Other groups, other indviduals are, all too often culpable.

Even the sweet young thing, rambling romantically along a woodland trail may, if inclined to thoughtfulness, speed the red demon on his way. Every man, woman and child who visits the forests of the state at this time of the year, should be on the alert. Smoking is a deadly occupation unless the smoker knows and rigidly observes the rules of conduct prescribed by the laws of his state. Camp fires left burning are sources of ill. Intelligence and eternal vigilance in regard to our natural resources will preserve them for the enjoyment and use of sportsmen, and idle vacationists alike. Let us also safeguard the little towns and beloved homes which are so dear to the hearts of those who inhabit them.—A. Merriam Conner.

MUSIC SEASON IN SACRAMENTO OPENS OCT. 10

The biggest season to date of the Sacramento music series, will start October 10 when the San Francisco Opera Company presents "La Traviata," in Memorial auditorium. Bidu Sayao, the beautiful Brazilian soprano, will sing the leading role, of Violetta, the ill starred courtesan of the French 1850's. Opposite her will be Jan Peerce, American baritone, Richard Bonelli, as well as Douglass Beattie, California basso.

A second performance of grand opera will be October 24 when "Carmen" will be presented with Irra Petina in the leading role and Ezio Pinza, Licia Albanese, and Raoul Jobin making up the principal cast.

The Sacramento Music Series is the only one of its kind in the United States that offers top-flight grand opera on a season ticket. The series this year will be unique also in that four of the concerts will be on Sunday and two others on Saturday night, so that out of towners will have the time to attend conveniently.

Ticket reservations are being made now by mail at the Weinstock-Lubin box office in Sacramento.

The regular music series will have the following events this year: "La Traviata", October 10; Sunday afternoon concert by the San Francisco Symphony under Pierre Monteux, December 13; Sunday matinee by Joseph Szigeti, Hungarian violinist, January 10; Tuesday evening concert by the Ballet Theatre, February 2; Sunday concert by Paul Robeson, March 7. Extra events will be a Sunday concert by Paul Draper, dancer, and Larry Adler, harmonica virtuoso ,November 8; and the opera "Carmen" October 24.

FOREST SERVICE SAVES AUTO OF CARELESS SMOKER

According to word received here today from District Ranger Frank B. Delaney, James King and Byron Burris of Browns Valley went into the Head Dam Trail leading into Canyon Creek on September 23rd. They parked their car at the end of the road, and had a smoke before starting down the trail. They dropped their burning cigarette butts and went off down the trail to Canyon Creek fishing.

Lookout Henry Fischer reported the smoke which resulted from the carelessly dropped cigarettes. Dispatcher Nelson sent Forest Guard Harry Hyde from Hall's Ranch Guard Station to the fire. Guard Hyde got there pust in time to save Burris's new 1941 Mercury sedan. There was fire underneath the car and on two sides when Guard Hyde pushed it out of the blaze. Ranger Delaney found the two men on Canyon Creek last evening and today they visited Forest Supervisor Ellis' headquarters in Nevada City where they paid costs of the fire amounting to $72.37.

been called upon to suffer greatly.

"It might drive us to the realization that morale is the spiritual capacity of a people to endure pain and suffering and not a campaign of bill posters, pep talks and band concerts.

"It might free us of the calmness with which we read of the ordeals of the Russian army.

It might, in our shaken frame of mind, drive us to the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, where on the north wall we could read the second inaugural, in which President Lincoln posed the disquieting proposition that perhaps the nation was being punished in those days for having enslaved a race.

"Thus conditioned to the unpleasant task of self-examination, we have tempted adversity and slavery by trading our fine sounding concepts of the freedom and dignity of the individual for a mess of advertising slogans and political cliches.

"This painful technique of realistic self-analysis might even remind us that freedom, like any other virtue, does not exist in a vacuum. It must be worked and practiced to exist at all. And like any other virtue, it imposes upon those who would have it the unpleasant tasks of discipline and sacrifice. A materialistic people do not learn these tasks by reading posters or listening to pep talks, any more than you can learn to play the violin by the some methods.

"We have, of course, under the stress of the war, had a spiritual rejuvenation of a kind.

"But I rather feel that our spiritual revival is a little bit like that of the boy who said his prayers only when he had to sleep in a folding bed.

"We have been wrangling for months over a tax bill for 1942. which in plain language means that we have been fighting over who is going to pay how much for this catastrophe which has engulfed us. The pressure of rival economic groups, each armed with unassailable statistics to show how that group will suffer injustice if thus and so happens, has ebbed and flowed like the tides for ten months.

"I fail to detect a spirit of sacrifice in these group gyrations before Congress. Neither does it indicate that we have a spiritual grasp of our threatening fate when we sell bonds to help finance a war of survival or extermination on the promise of profitable monetary returns on the investment. I see no fundamental grasp of our predicament in anti-union employers who sabotage production committees for fear that industry will be Sovietized, nor in labor union leaders who are so concerned about the competitive position of their own little groups as to examine the war with regard to how their own puny fortunes will be affected if labor unity is achieved or jurisdictional lines are eradicated.

"I think our insufferable and materialistic pride has rendered us incapable of realizing fully that in German Naziism we are fighting a monstrous thing that started out as a God-man complex, and now is fighting to the death, whether that God-man complex still exists or not, in the desperate realization that Naziism and the deluded fools who are backing Naziism cannot survive if they do not win and exterminate their victims.

"We would find it hard to follow through the thought that the little Japs, for whom we have always entertained a rather fond contempt, consider us foppish because we equip our aviators with parachutes. It is a degrading thought to these our enemies that there should be any alternative to defeat save violent death.

"We are whistling in a graveyard to keep from facing reality. We prate about our unity of purpose. Then we retire to the woodshed with a sharp pencil and a clean shingle to figure out whether the agricultural or the petroleum interests will grab the synthetic rubber business, and whether the British-Dutch rubber cartel will be revived after the war to threaten this new industry. We hope that we can enlist the support of the masses in Latin America and our own Negroes, without having to do too much toward solving the agrarian problems of our neighbors to the south or the economic problems of our fellow-Americans. And we hope that the Russians will whip the Nazis, but not too unreasonable about spreading their uncomfortable doctrines outside of Russia.

"And all the time we have a dusty standard in the attack around which we could all rally if we would but break it out and understand its dynamic implications.

"I mean the standard of democratic idealism, which means tolerance, humility, sacrifice, and understanding of the meaning of human dignity. It is a standard-fashioned for us long ago in suffering and hardship, by our forefathers. We put it away and took instead the billboards which proclaimed us the strongest, greatest and most superlative people that ever put in two and got out five.

"We are still flexing our imaginary muscles and shouting: 'Wait till I catch that lug who hit me when I wasn't looking'!

"We had better stop for a moment and look in a flat mirror, to see if our gym trunks fit us.

"At this point in the speech I should shift gears and wind up with predictions of a glorious finish of our uphill fight.

"But I'm not going to do it.

"We are still losing this war. It will take all we've got to win—what are you going to do about it?"

NEW HYDRANTS TESTED

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 28—This community narrowly escaped a disastrous fire Friday early afternon when a grass fire started in the yard of W. C. Williams and quickly spread. A general alarm was sounded and the forest service fire crew responded and in due time the flames were put under control but not until it had destroyed the winter wood supply of the Williams family which was in the yard where the fire started.

This was the first occasion that the new fire hydrants which were installed about town last spring have been used for actual fire fighting.

Private Joseph M. Swazey Spends Four Months In Hospital

Joseph M. Swazey, San Juan Ridge and Nevada City resident now in the Army at Fort Knox, writes in a letter to The Nugget that he has just been discharged from the Army hospital after being confined nearly four months.

Swazey reports some one is sending him The Nevada City Nugget.

"I can assure you it is really wonderful to receive The Nugget", Swazey writes.

In the letter Swazey reveals that while he was prospecting on the Nor. San Juan ridge he discovered a small outcropping of chrome. Now that the metal is so essential for the war effort, he hopes some one will investigate to determine if the deposit could be commercially developed.

"It might develop into some thing worth while," Swazey writes. "For the exact location of the outcropping any one interested can see Borey Bishop at French Corral and he will show them the place.

"I sure wish I were back in Nevada County," Swazey continues, "or at least at the new camp at Marysville. Then I could see you people once in awhile. However, if I'm not killed before Christmas I may be able to get a furlough and see you then.

"This war is serious business and if one is going to do his country and his family and friends any real good he should apply himself one hundred per cent to learning all he can so that he will be able to handle himself efficiently when his turn comes against our enemies."

Swazey's present address is:

CARELESS SMOKER CAUSED FIRE NEAR BOCA LAST WEEK

The recent fire east of the Boca Dam on the Tahoe National Forest was caused by a careless smoker.

Through the alertness and quick action of forest officers of the Tahoe National Forest, Robert Hill of Truckee was apprehended for smoking in a closed area, and proven to have caused the fire by his carelessness with cigarettes and matches. Hill was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Smith at Truckee where a plea of guilty was entered and was subsequently fined $25.

Supervisor Ellis states that here is another example of the result of carelessness with cigarettes and matches that all conservation agencies have been trying to prevent. This means that this man failed to heed newspaper and other publicity to be careful with fire. The sure way to cooperate and avoid fires is to leave smoking materials in camp when going into areas closed to smoking and then there won't be any temptation to smoke. The slogan "Careless Matches aid the Axis" should be remembered by everyone." says Ellis, as we must all get together and preach and practice fire prevention at home and abroad—It pays.

Karl Kopp of Nevada City was in town on a short business visit Friday.

Personal

Miss Catherine Davis, daughter of Mrs. Clem Davis of Park Avenue, is to start work in the supervisors office of the local headquarters of the Tahoe National Forest as a stenographer in a few days. She is employed as a stenographer at the county hospital and has held the position for several months.

Si Sofge, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, and Judge George Gildersleeve attended a transportation meeting of the transportation board in Grass Valley Monday evening. The meeting had to do with transportation problems to and from Camp Beale. Many questions came up in regard to this issue. It was determined that a bus or busses accommodating al workers in the Nevada City area will start in the morning and return in the evening from a certain point or terminal in this city. It is hoped this bus will be well patronized by a number of workers employed here.

Commander and Mrs. W. P. Burford and son, Frank, came up from Vallejo Sunday for a luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Davis of Park Avenue. Frank is attending military academy in Long Beach and came to Vallejo by plane to spend the week with his parents. Commander Burford has just been decorated with a navy cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoge came up from San Francisco for a week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hoge and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ott. Arthur Hoge is engaged in war work in the bay area.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Boulder street returned Friday from a two week's vacation in San Francisco and Chico with relatives.

Mrs. Arno Browning of French Corral and daughter, Mrs. Douglass Gilbert and three children of Grass Valley spent Friday with Mrs. Annie Browning on Boulder street.

Miss Jeanette Barry who has spent several weeks in Nevada City visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sikes, left by plane Wednesday for Tulsa, Okla.

VEGETABLES, FRUIT WILL BE DEHYDRATED FOR LUNCH PROGRAM

The Nevada City Elementary School Parent Teachers Association at its meeting Friday decided to take up a dehydrating project to furnish foods for the school lunches. Vegetables and fruits will be dehydrated and stored for use at the elementary school.

Two ends will be thus served—ruit and vegetables of which there is an abundance at the present time will be kept from going to waste and food for the school lunches will be available throughout the year.

Mrs. L. G. Lageson, president of the PTA su,ggests that it is something in the way of defense work to assist in the dehydrating program.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nelson have generously loaned to the PTA a dehydrator in which the fruit and vegetables will be treated. Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bonebrake donated a large quantity of string beans, which were dehydrated today.

The PTA asks people who have surplus fruits and vegetables to give to this good cause phone 454 Nevada City and someone will call for them.

Boys and girls from the high school are expected to volunteer to pick the fruit and housewives would be welcome in assisting in preparing the fruit and vegetables for dehydrating.

The subject of dehydrating fruit and vegetables will be discussed by Mrs. Leone Brown at a meeting in the Elementary School Auditorium here tonight.

Local housewives are urged to attend the meeting.

Camptonville Man Bound Over To Superior Court On Murder Attempt Charge

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 25.—The prelminary hearing of the case of the People vs. Walter Forester was held Thursday afternoon in a crowded courtroom before Justice of the Peace A. M. Cleveland.

Forester was charged with an assault with a deadly weapon in an attempt to murder following a fracas Sunday afternoon of the Yuba Pass Highway above town wherein he attempted to kill his wife, first with an axe, a shovel and finally taking a shot at her with a 25-35 rifle.

The following witnesses were called to the stand: Mrs. Margie Forester, Thomas Knox, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shipley and Jay Gould. The defendant, who at the hearing was not represented by council questioned the witnesses himself.

After the evidence was submitted the court held the defendant to answer in the superior court fixing the bail at $5000 and the defendant was returned to the county jail at Marysville to await trial in the higher court.

LEAVES SOON FOR PORTLAND

Luther Marsh, for many years on the staff of the Nevada County Lumber Company, but who has been employed as a carpenter in recent months at Camp Beale, will leave within a day or two for similar work at Portland, Oregon. During the latter part of his employment at Camp Beale, Marsh has been doing interior finishing. He was among a considerable number of Camp Beale workers, chosen by the contractor, to go to Portland to engage in similar work there. Marsh states that all but one division in the big 40,000 man camp is now completed.

MRS STEVENS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Henry Stevens of Pine street suffered a severe heart attack last week and is now in the Miners Hospital in a serious condition. She is not permitted to see visitors.

Deer Hunters Aid In Fighting Boca Area Fire

Deer hunters were secured recently in the Truckee area to assist in fighting the Boca Quarry fire which was quickly controlled with their aid. "The hunters were pressed into service due to a shortage of man power in the area," reports Supervisor Ellis of the Tahoe National Forest. Without the aid of these men the fire would in all probability have been much larger and more costly to control.

Nearly all the hunters pressed into service held forest service fire prevention volunteers cards and were more than glad to assist in controlling the fire. "The forest service deeply appreciates such cooperation" states Supervisor Ellis, "and hopes to contact more and more people with the fire prevention pledge cards to help reduce man caused fires."
